OVERSEAS
INTERNSHIP
2020

WHY INTERN OVERSEAS?

COMPETITIVE EDGE

ENRICH YOUR LEARNING EXPERIENCE

BE GLOBAL READY

OPPORTUNITIES FOR NETWORKING AND FORGING OF FRIENDSHIPS GLOBALLY

BROADENING & DEEPENING OF KNOWLEDGE

EXPOSURE TO DIFFERENT SOCIO-CULTURAL ENVIRONMENTS

“

If you get the chance, go for an overseas internship. It will help you move towards the right direction, as employers tend to favour independent learners who have international exposure.”

“In larger markets like Hong Kong, you're exposed to more financial deals and more complex deals that are going on. These things definitely boost our technical competencies.”

“It was a great 24-week internship experience at The Four Seasons Langkawi. The learning process was challenging but fruitful.”

Mr Chew told The Straits Times: "I would strongly advise Singaporeans to go on such trips if they have the chance.

"I had heavier responsibilities and could work at my own pace, which tested my time management skills. I also gained hands-on experience working with machines found in big manufacturing plants that are rare in Singapore."

He is now keen to expand his horizons elsewhere.

"It really changed my perspective. All along, I'd been a frog in a well," he said, referring to the Chinese saying, which describes a person with a limited world view.

An aerial photograph of a dense urban area in Manila, Philippines. The image shows a mix of modern high-rise buildings and older, lower-rise structures. A major multi-lane highway with heavy traffic runs through the center. In the background, a large body of water is visible under a blue sky with scattered white clouds. The word "MANILA" is superimposed in the center in large, white, rounded, 3D-style letters.
